KIIT UNIVERSITY

Established in 1992 and opened five years later as a KIIT University is today one of the most prestigious universities in India. Its commitment to teaching excellence led to the grant of university status under Section 3 of UGC Act, 1956 by the Ministry of Human Resource Development, Govt. of India in 2004, within only seven years of its inception. KIIT is relatively young, but prizes excellence and ambition. The contributions of KIIT's faculty, students and alumni have been earning national and international recognition.

KIIT SCHOOL OF LAW

KIIT School of Law (KLS) has established itself as a premier Institution of excellence, scholarship and rigour among the law institutions of the third generation. We have a diverse student population drawn from as many as 20 states of India, enriching the experience of those who study here. Emerging as one of the finest law schools, KIIT School of Law is known for its teaching standards and scholarship. We are also the first law school that implemented the curricula recommended by the Bar Council of India in 2009 with six Honours specialization courses. Similarly, we are amongst the first law schools to offer three conjoined honours degree courses B.A.LL.B (Hons.), B.B.A.LL.B (Hons.) and B.Sc.LLB (Hons.). We also offer 1 year LL.M and Ph.D programme. KLS is also the first law school in India to offer specialized honours courses in Constitutional Law, Business Law, International Law, Crime and Criminology, Intellectual Property Law and Taxation Law. KIIT School of Law is also a member of the International Association of Law Schools, Washington, U.S.A. and Asia Pacific Association of Law Schools, Australia.

We produce law graduates who shall be critical thinkers, good problem solvers and have the capacity to apply fundamentals of justice and rule of law in new social context. Our school is strongly committed to quality legal education and excellence. At KIIT School of Law we administer critical fact education, so that graduates do not accept the world as it is and once they fully understand, comprehend and possibly change it, it is always at the best interest of justice towards the client. With a large group of young and experienced faculties as mentor, guide and philosopher, we at KIIT School of Law strive to transform the students as pillars of strength for generation to come so that they continue to hold aloft the repute of the legal profession.

THEME: Curriculum Development

There is no doubt that much improvement has occurred. Despite the improvement, critics suggest that there is lot of criticism. There are deficiencies in law school curriculum. Critics like Gee and Jackson worry that law schools are ‘academic sandboxes’ where “law students are being permitted to carry on the same fingerprinting exercises they began in college.” One of the central problems is simply “what shall be taught”. Subject matter concern has been significant focus of the criticism of legal education and curriculum is ‘chaotic’ resembling nothing so much as crazy quilt, that most inadequately covered the body of the law. Moreover, it is argued that ‘doctrinal organization presently dominates the curriculum. The dilemma lies with awkward relationship between theoretical and the practical.. academic themes or initiatives are viewed as ‘submerged’, marginal, or disguised as ‘practical’ to avoid indignities. There are four protagonists:

1. The subject matter of legal education teaches skills cut off from human beings and human values.

2. It is structured in a pattern of thought, conduct and socio-political allegiances essential to both capitalist and patriarchal hegemony.

3. The law schools do not reflect multidisciplinary nature of law. There is only limited inter-disciplinary integration but not interdisciplinary insight into subjects with current professional preoccupations.

4. The subject matter of legal education providing a false legitimacy to existing social and power relations.

In line of this, sub themes for the workshop include the following –

Session 1
